Those Vikings and Huns would be amused. For they could buy West German tennis rackets now in at least one Waco sports department store.

These are made fibre glass, bright orange and blue, and, no, I don't make a commission for the mention.

But they are a colorful as the old war axes and broad swords common in Northern Europe a millenium ago.

And a good overhead smash with one of these rackets would do about as much damage as an ax.

115-115-115

Lynn Ashby, columnist for the Houston Post, writes an informative piece about what federal government does with tax resources beside paying landowners for not producing crops

Ashby means the column to have humor, but it comes off unfunny.

For example: He says Queen Elizabeth received $68,000 not to plant cotton on her Mississippi plantation.

He quotes the Washington Post story which notes other gravy trains: $159,000 to teach mothers how to play with their babies; $70,000 to classify and determine biology and number of Indo-Austrialian ants; $71,000 for a history of comic books; $14,000 to Ford Motor Co. for not planting wheat.

Ashby astounds with the variety and multiplicity of pointlessness, including $117,250 for a Board of Tea Tasters.

And when April 16 passes, the IRS vacuum pulls in essential tens of billions to cover these costs plus the mounting federal debt in annual interest alone.

Whoever says that free enterprise is alive and well is short on information about agriculture, the federal budget and weakening inequities these create in the body politic.

The frightening thing about all this is that such a system justifies weakness, ineptness, somehow sustaining incompetence when this country is screaming for new direction, particularly away from centralization.

Car Rollover Injures Two

OLD, FADED SIGNS come down on street corners as C. Flores and Charley Barfield (on ladder) replace street signs. New green and white signs are going up in the downtown area, with residential areas to be changed at a later date.

A Cameron youth remains in critical condition and his brother is still in serious condition at Scott and White Memorial Hospital following an auto accident early Saturday south of Rogers.

Still listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit Wednesday was Donnie Marek, 16, of Rt. 1, Cameron. His brother Edwin Marek, 17, remains in serious condition.

A hospital spokesman said the two youths seemed to be holding their own.

Investigating Highway Patrolman W. C. Zacharias said the two were injured when their car went out of control and rolled over several times on FM 437 about two miles south of Rogers about 12:45 a.m. Saturday. The youths were on their way home from a dance at Holland.

Zacharias said the car went out of control while attempting to negotiate a curve in the road. He said the car went off the right side of the road, came back and crossed the left side, rolled over several times and came to rest in a field.

Sponsors Sought For Bike-Hike Aiding Retarded

Sponsors are being sought by the Yoe High School chapter of the National Honor Society and the Student Council for the 1974 National Bike-Hike for the mentally retarded.

The Bike-Hike campaign calls on volunteer citizens all across the country to either "hike or bike" for the retarded over a measured course.

Businesses and individuals are asked to pledge so much per mile for each mile walked or ridden by participants.

The Bike-Hike will take place on May 4, starting at 9 a.m. at Yoe gym. The measured course will be announced there.

Check points will be set up at intervals along the route to accurately clock miles walked or ridden by participants. Walks and bike rides have been very successful in other parts of the country and have raised thousands of dollars for the mentally retarded.

The National Association for Retarded Citizens has named Calvin Hill, star running back of the Dallas Cowboys, a National Chairman of the 1974 Bike-Hike for the Retarded.

Interested participants or sponsors are urged to contact Yoe High School at 697-3902 and a pledge form will be delivered.

Gause Is Third In Community Improvement

The Gause community has been awarded third place in the District 10 competition of the Texas Community Improvement contest, according to John E. Snell, County Extension Agent.

Gause was visited and judged on Monday, April 15 and was placed third with the Harwood community in Gonzales placing first and New Berlin in Guadalupe County placing second.

For winning third place in the district Gause will receive a certificate and a $50 cash award.

Branchville, Davilla, Griffin Chapel and Maysfield will be awarded certificates for participating in the improvement contest.

"Congratulations to the leaders in the Gause community for their fine cooperation, effort and leadership put forth on their record book, community tour and community achievements during the past year", Snell said.

Grain Producers Have Market News Service

Grain producers in Texas now have a new market news service available to them for keeping up with the grain Market, according to County Extension Agent Bill McCutchen.

This is a statewide telephone recording system provided by The Texas Department of Agriculture.

Daily grain price information will be available for the cost of a long distance phone call. The service will be directed towards four major grain producing areas of Texas -- the High Plains, Rolling Plains, Central Texas and South Texas.

"Grain producers are becoming more interested in marketing their crops," McCutchen said. "Growers are aware that the way they market can affect their income considerably with widely changing prices, and this has caused farmers to want to keep abreast of the current situation."

Information on the 3-minute recording will contain a brief summary of the market for that day -- including prices being paid to the farmer, elevator selling prices, and future market prices. Also, addition items of interest such as crop production reports and world agricultural situation are included as reports are received.

Recorder locations and the numbers are:

-- Amarillo 806-352-7411
-- Lubbock 806-763-3285
-- Vernon 817-552-7541

A Corpus Christi number will be announced later. McCutchen said he hopes producers will take advantage of this additional marketing tool.

Bike Accidents

Bicycle riders beware! According to figures released by the Texas Department of Public Safety, bicycle accidents have risen by 250 percent statewide and by 500 percent in urban areas. No doubt the gasoline shortage has a lot to do with it.

Boy Scouters Join Litter Cleanup

Local Scouters and adult leaders will join in the nation's biggest single litter cleanup campaign Saturday, April 27, as their part in the fourth annual Scouting Keep America Beautiful Day.

Bill Henry of Rockdale, acting chairman of the Milam County event, said the local effort is part of a nationwide drive for a cleaner America.

Henry said that more than 150 youngsters and their leaders composing 12 units of BSA's Southern District "will literally comb the streets, parks and other public areas to pick up litter on this special day."

The 1974 Keep America Beautiful Days is expected to attract more than six million Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers and adult workers from coast to coast for a twofold reason: to make a dent in the national litter problem and promote a public awareness of the need for personal involvement in the solution.

"It is an education - and -action program designed to make people aware that litter is unsightly, a health and fire hazard and contributes to pollution," Henry said. "People are the villains in the litter problem, and only by getting their attention can you enlist them in making a personal contribution toward litter prevention.

"Scouters and their leaders through the Tejas District will be trying to accomplish this on April 27."

Local Scouters are still mapping plans for the special cleanup effort, working with city and county officials to pinpoint unsightly areas of the community.

Alcoa's Rockdale Works. Commercial Contracting Company and Dairy Queens in Cameron and Rockdale will join the Scouts in their war on litter.

Alcoa has donated 100 burlap sacks for roadside litter pickup and 55-gallon drums to be painted by Scouts and donated to cities as trash receptacles. Alcoa will give SOAR (Save Our American Resources) badge to every Scout in the district who participates in the cleanup.

Alcoa has also secured 2,000 auto litter bags from the America Brewers Association to be distributed by Scouters at busy intersections through the district.

Commercial Contracting, located at the Alcoa plant site, will donate the use of a truck to haul litter to the Rockdale municipal dump.

A unique reward is in store for Scouters this year, thanks to Dairy Queens in Cameron and Rockdale. Each youngster who works in the anti-litter campaign will receive a ticket for a medium size soft drink.

The acting chairman urges all Scouts to participate in the April 27 cleanup event, and solicits community support to make "litter prevention truly effective and contribute to conservation of natural resources."

The library is also open until 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Deserters Sadly Reconciling To Life Of Permanent Exile

By Mark Goldsmith

STOCKHOLM

Reuter -- With the Vietnam war fading into history, hundreds of Americans who came to Sweden rather than fight in a war they opposed in Indochina are sadly reconciling themselves to a life of permanent exile.

The deserter community in Scandinavia was rudely jolted by the recent jailing of one of their number, 27-year-old Lew Simon, who went back to the United States after four years to face trial.

Simon, a graduate of New York's Queens College and now married to a Swedish girl expecting their first child this spring, was given seven months hard labor in any army prison He had already spent three months solitary confinement at a military detention camp after giving himself up in New York as a test case for amnesty.

The verdict is regarded as clear proof by Simon's many compatriots here that under the present administration they can expect little compassion if they go back.

An estimated 480 of them are living here. Others are in Denmark and Norway.

Some shuttle restlessly between Sweden and Canada where an estimated 250,000 American resistors are living. Sometimes they risk arrest by sneaking over the border to see their families.

One man here has made the double translatlantic trip five times but feels no nearer to getting home. With the removal of American forces from Vietnam last year the deserters were hoping the army would take a softer line. Simon's case has quashed all optimism about that.

Bill Schiller, a friend of Simon's and co-editor of a monthly deserter newsletter, summed up the feeling of the community like this.

"All of us here were watching the case very closely, Lew had received a lot of publicity from the press and support from Safe Return -- an American amnesty group -- and we hoped for another result.

"The Simon case just shows us that it is still a long way off before the American people accept the idea of amnesty."

The chief question as Schiller sees it is, "How long are deserters going to be considered criminals in their own country because they refused to kill people in southeast Asia?"

The majority of Americans living here are deserters -- some of whom come from lower class backgrounds and with little or no higher education. For them, the life of an exile in Sweden has been tough.

In spite of social help from the sympathetic Swedes and residence and work permits, many have not been able to adjust to the life here.

The resistor, however, -- who more often is college educated and from a middle class background -- has found life easier.

After learning to speak the language, they have found work or continued with their studies at the Swedish university.

For those who have been unable to fit in, life in exile has been a nightmare. Without a job, and little education they have been forced to live on the fringe of society.

One resistor who came to Sweden in 1968 to avoid Vietnam service does not see the amnesty question as central. The 26-year-old former New Yorker says: "We feel that the continuation of the war in Asia and the imprisonment in South Vietnam of 200,000 political prisoners is the more important question today.

"Most of us here feel that we have to set priorities and right now the war, which still rages, has just got to come first."

Schiller who now works as a freelance journalist for the Swedish Broadcasting Corporation here in Stockholm, describes life in exile like this: "There are people living here who have been unable to go home again, and they do filter home a few at a time. But many of us have accepted the life and know that we may have to stay here a long time.

"I think that nearly all of us would go home if an unconditional amnesty were declared, even if only for a visit to see our family again and to take a look around. But many who have started families here and who are on their way to becoming Swedes, would return here to live."

Since the signing of the Paris peace agreement in 1973 Sweden has shut the door to deserters. According to Swedish law, only those in danger of being sent to a war theatre are allowed in. And now that the American ground troops have been removed from Southeast Asia, deserters and resistors are hard pressed to make a good case for entry.

TSTI Valuable Resourse...

Texas State Tecnhical Institute offers to assist Connally High School in Waco in various sequences useful to high school age students.

This service could be reviewed by Cameron Independent School District leaders as it has been discussed in board meetings.

If additional space is forthcoming at Yoe Campus, for example, for science classrooms, would there not be space somewhere for TSTI instructors to teach some of the technical skills already needed here.

Board members have discussed trade courses like carpentry, plumbing, mechanics for local students. TSTI could bring expertise in these and many others to youngsters who might start work as soon as they finish high school.

Some skills can be learned at this time. Others would have to be continued at TSTI. Perhaps such expertise would fit into sequences already established in farm and manual training courses, using present facilities for the additional courses.

TSTI has become an important institution to Waco and Central Texas. And supplementing technical faculties in schools only an hour away could be a major step with little additional investment in brick and mortar.

Ahead To Windmills...

Windmills one day may return to use in this and other industrial countries, not to grind grain or pump water, but to light your house.

Reuters says the U. S. Space Agency is working on the practicalities of using a modified windmill, updated for maximum efficiency, which would power the electric needs of the average household.

It would be a two-blade type, hardly resembling the enormous windmills in Holland or the smaller variety commonly seen on farms and ranches into the 1930s and 1940s, before REA.

It is an alternative source of power, which would capture the slight breezes which stir over the earth's surface even when it appears windless.

We hope this and other solutions are forthcoming, before we bankrupt or choke ourselves on conventional sources of power.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

INSISTS NEW BILLS CARRY PRICE TAG

Rep. Jack F. Kemp (N. Y.) ". . . Every session of Congress thousands of bills are introduced in the House of Representatives. We are not even three-fourths of the way through this 93rd Congress — 1973 and 1974 — yet almost 14,000 bills, and nearly a thousand joint resolutions have been introduced in the House. Nearly 3,500 bills have been introduced to date in the Senate.

"Seldom do we, as Members have any accurate idea of how much it might actually cost to fully implement each and every measure introduced, no matter how worthy the objectives may be . . .

"This is why I believe it would be helpful to have a more accurate idea of the projected costs of enacting specific legislation long before reaching the committee report state . . . The cost of a proposal is a vital piece of information, vital to the Member introducing it, vital to his colleagues, vital to those intended to be affected by the passage of the bill, and vital, above all to those who will have to pay for it — the taxpayers . . .

"A good idea with a high price tag might produce more extensive public debate and promote a more comprehensive search for alternative means of filling the need. Such a search might produce not only a cheaper but a better solution . . .

"H.R.13865 requires that before a bill may be printed upon its introduction that an estimate of the cost of carrying out its purposes must be placed as a footnote on the first page of the bill. The estimate would cover its cost in the fiscal year that the bill or joint resolution is introduced and for each of the next 5 fiscal years, if it is to be a continuing program . . .

"The idea of placing price tags on legislation is not new, for many State legislatures have done it for years. Where it would be new is in these halls . . ."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Congressmen who are serious about controlling Federal spending should flock to cosponsor Rep. Kemp's bill. The big spenders will be conspicuous by their absence.

Right-To-Work Provision Has Committee Approval

A General Provisions article of the proposed new state constitution — including a controversial right-to-work section — finally has received committee approval.

The long-delayed section will go to the Constitutional Convention for consideration when delegates return to work next month.

Heatedly opposed by organized labor, the right-to-work provision would place in the constitution the present statutory ban on compulsory union membership as a requisite to holding a job.

Another controversial section of the article would allow the legislature to authorize state debt to finance a "superport" and housing for the elderly.

The committee threw out another earlier decision to allow a separate statewide vote on whether pari-mutuel gambling should be prohibited by thenew constitution.

During more than three months of deliberations, the committee heard 231 witnesses in 22 public sessions on 96 proposals covering 31 subjects.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. expects all work of the body to be wrapped up by the second week of June.

DRILLING INCREASES — Oil and gas well completions are increasing this year, according to the Texas Railroad Commission.

A total of 1,395 oil wells have been drilled since January 1, compared with 1,191 during the same period in 1973.

Gas well completions rose from 678 to 799.

Nine oil and 28 gas discoveries were reported by the commission during April 1-15 which brought the total for 1974 to 79 and 102, respectively. The figures for 1973 were 56 and 109 oil and gas discoveries.

MORE SPEEDERS — An inceasing number of Texas drivers are violating the 55 miles-per-hour speed limit, Col. Wilson E. Speir, Texas Department of Public Safety director, reports.

Speeding arrests by the Highway Patrol during March were 109 per cent greater than in March 1973, Speir said.

In March 1974, 58,760 speeding cases were filed, compared to 28,111 a year ago. Passenger car drivers received 43,264 of the tickets and truck drivers 14,849. Speir appealed to all motorists to obey the speed law. He said the number of traffic deaths has begun to rise again after a decline.

Insurance companies are raising doubts premiums will drop with the lowered speed. They point to increases in hospital and repair costs.

EXCHANGE PROPOSED — Agriculture Commissioner John C. White discussed with Iran and Saudi Arabia ambassadors a proposal for direct exchange of agricultural commodities for fuel and fertilizers.

Under the plan, Texas and U.S. farm products would be bartered through a coordinating agency for an assured supply of petrochemicals for agriculture. Also offered is technological assistance to the two countries in developing their own agricultural resources.

COURTS SPEAK — A Kerrville school teacher who lost his job for refusing to shave his beard should be reinstated, the State Supreme Court held. But the case may go on and on in further appeals.

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld a prison sentence given a Dallas mother for whipping her small children for taking money from her purse.

A federal district court at Tyler refused to order reopening of Waller County voter registration to benefit students of Prairie View A & M University.

A pre-trial conference was held April 24 in gubernatorial candidate Frances "Sissy" Farenthold's campaign finance lawsuit against Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

AG OPINIONS — Names of persons complaining of air pollution emissions and their statements to the Texas Air Control Board are public records, Atty. Gen. John L. Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A county judge whose term has less than a year to run can be a candidate for the state senate.

A retail store using electronic equipment for cashing checks of customers is not illegally engaged in banking.

A county can contract with a city for rural fire protection even if the county is co-terminous with a rural fire protection district.

SAVING POSSIBLE — A proposed new multi-peril policy for commercial establishments can save up to 30 per cent on insurance premiums, according to the Texas Insurance Advisory Association.

The proposal is subject to approval by the State Board of Insurance.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear Editor:

As I understand it, the reason postage rates have gone up some more is that the government is trying to get the postal service on a paying basis.

While I have never been convinced the post office ought to show a profit -- I thought it was a public service enterprise, like farming -- the government of course may be right and I was just thinking.

If the post office ought to pay its way, then why should not other government enterprises? Take the court system. It certainly doesn't turn a profit, its costs are going up, there's a log-jam of backed-up cases, all sorts of delays, and justice is being delivered slower than the mail. So it's possible if it were put under the supervision of private supervisors like the post office and some cold business principles adopted, the courts might start paying their way too.

For example, take the wide variations in court fines. I read only last night that, due to the fact the copper in a penny is worth more than the penny itself some people are melting them down for sale as copper scrap, so the government has now established a court fine of $10,000 for melting one down.

On the other hand, the fine for a big corporation's illegally donating $100,000 to a political campaign is $1,000. What sort of rate structure is that? Any hard-fisted business man knows you can't run a business or a court system like that and show a profit.

If the courts can get $10,000 for catching from a corporation for contributing $100,000 to a campaign. Think how many millions and millions of dollars such a rate structure would have brought in from the last election alone and how far that would have gone toward reducing the court system's deficit.

I tell you, if we want to make money out of it, we ought to put the court system in the hands of business experts, but I'd suggest we not use the same experts who're managing the postal system. They can't seem to get the hang of it.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

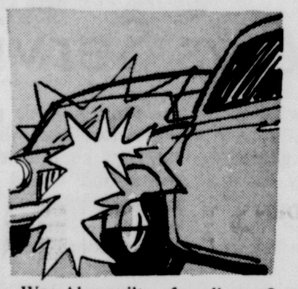
Blind Corner

Alex dutifully halted his car at the stop sign. At that point, which was about 30 feet back from the corner, his vision of the intersection was blocked by some high bushes. Nevertheless, he moved briskly into the crossing.

Result: a collision with a car coming along the other street.



Was Alex guilty of negligence? He insisted that he was not, pointing out in a court hearing that he had brought his car to a full stop at the sign.

"That's all the law requires," he said. "I stopped, looked, and listened at the designated place."

But the court found him guilty of negligence anyhow. The court said a "blind" corner imposes an extra duty on motorists—regardless of stop signs or traffic signals —to proceed with caution.

The law does recognize, however, that caution is a matter of degree. For example:

Another man also entered an intersection that he could not see because of shrubbery. But this time, the man edged forward at a snail's pace, glancing in both directions. Even though he still got in the way of an oncoming car and caused a collision, a court ruled afterward that he could not be held legally liable.

"The law does not require the impossible," said the court. "One cannot be held guilty of negligence because he is unable to see through impenetrable objects or to bend his vision around them."

What about the responsibility for making the intersection blind in the first place? Unless a special statute so provides, the local government ordinarily cannot be held liable for this kind of hazard.

However, courts have occasionally placed the blame on a private property owner who has brought such an obstruction into existence. Liability has been based on the theory that the condition of his premises could foreseeably cause some luckless motorist, some day, to get hurt.

See The Motorcycle ?

You may not find a motorcycle in this picture, but you'll find plenty of them on Texas' streets and highways.

The trouble is, not enough automobile drivers are seeing motorcycles when they should. Not until it's too late, anyway.

Maybe if motorcycles were as big as elephants, you'd be more careful when you see them. But nothing is bigger than human life. And that's what we're really asking you to look out for.

73 Crop Proves Cotton Still King

For those who have predicted the demise of cotton in recent years, 1973 proved that the crop is once again "king."

Past years of oversupply, low demand and low prices led to many speculations that the cotton industry was going downhill. But in 1973 cotton again came into its own, especially in Texas where a record $1.2 billion crop was harvested. The crop of 4.68 million bales was the largest since 1965.

And the demand was there, so prices jumped to an all-time high.

"For 1974, strong demand again appears evident and the new farm program is encouraging plantings at near capacity. This should lead to another banner year for cotton producers," speculates Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Producers can generally look for lint cotton to average about 55 cents a pound."

Despite earlier projections of a 16 million bale crop in the United States, a production of 14 million bales seems more reasonable to Baker due to shortages and increased costs of labor, fertilizer , machinery, fuel and other inputs.

"And with only a fraction of the crop contracted to date, cotton mills will be competing strongly for 1974 cotton. Stocks of some medium and long staple cotton will be tight before this year's crop hits the market," believes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Carryover stocks are expected to be only 3.8 million bales by August 1, a level considered too low by cotton mills to assure price stability at a low level. With both foreign and domestic consumption estimated at 13.25 million bales and a 14 million bale crop in prospect, carryover through 1975 will continue at a low level. In Contrast, carryover stocks were a record 16 million bales in 1965.

"The cotton picture has brightened some as the demand in natural fibers has been strengthened due to the current situation. Shortages of petrochemicals and other inputs have forced synthetic fibers into tight supply, thus stealing much of their competitive coult. However, should energy problems generate an overall slowdown in the textile industry , then cotton will also suffer," points out Baker.

Foreign demand should continue strong due to petrochemical shortages and the fact that many foreign countries are directing their resources to food production rather than the production of fiber.

"So, the overall picture looks bright," believes the economist. "Of course, weather conditions can make a big difference in the final output. A general rain is needed across Texas to get the young crop off to a good start in southern and central areas and to provide planting moisture in West Texas and the High and Rolling Plains."

Animal Bites Need Attention

With 271 animal rabies cases reported during 1973, residents across the state are being urged to take specific steps in dealing with animal bites or scratches, Rodney B. Kruse, Assistant County Extension Agent, said this week.

If a person is bitten by a healthy domestic dog or cat, it should be captured, confined and observed by a veterinarian for ten days.

If signs suggestive of rabies develop, the animal should be sacrificed, the head removed and shipped, under refrigeration, to a qualified laboratory designated by the local or state health department for examination.

Any bite, including that of a human, should be examined by a physician for treatment in order to prevent side effects caused by trauma and the introduction of infection or disease - causing microorganisms, the agent said.

Reliable interpretation of early signs of rabies in wild or stray animals cannot be made, Rodney continued.

Any such animal that bites or scratches an individual should be killed at once and the brain examined for evidence of rabies.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Specialist Sees Recovery Ahead For Cattle Prices

By Bill McCutchen

Dr. Ed Uvacek, Extension Livestock Marketing Specialist expressed cautious optimism that livestock prices were soon to take some turn for the better.

He said that low price levels that have plagued the cattle market during the last three weeks cannot be explained by either an oversupply of beef or a lack of demand.

The slaughter of cattle during January was down 1% and prices rose from a low $40 level to the $50 range. During February, cattle slaughter was down even more -- about 4% yet prices fell drastically. Some people say that consumer demand is off. If it were, however, we would expect the same quality of beef to bring lower prices. Actually, retail prices for beef in January were up 17% from a year ago and 6% from the December level, hardly a lack of demand.

Certainly there were some overfat cattle in the feedlots that depressed the market. These, together with the truck stoppage and fuel crisis, added fuel to the fire. Pressure by retailers to lower wholesale prices in an effort to widen their margin, in the face of more government controls, is also probable, Uvacek states.

Since it is so difficult to economically justify these lower prices, it must be assumed that some readjustment will occur. At this point, his estimate would be a fairly steady rise back up to the $46-$49 area on choice slaughter steers by May. The high price for the year may not be much higher and should come in either May or June. Some downward pressure is probable after that.

Feeder prices will be influenced greatly by these fat cattle prices. Some price recovery, therefore, is anticipated in April and May, putting feeders close to last year's levels.

Pork Producers To Vote on Referendum

Texas pork producers will soon decide by referendum whether or not a check-off program will be begun for their commodity. The check off is not to exceed 10 cents per head for all slaughter animals at the first point of sale.

Voting on the referendum will being about May 1, with balloting done by mail. All ballots must be postmarked not later than May 14. Ballots will be sent to all producers by the Texas Producers Association. Producers who do not receive a ballot may obtain one from the county Extension office.

In addition to voting on the referendum, producers will also be electing a board of directors from 15 districts which will be called the Texas Pork Producers Board.

If the referendum is approved, the board of directors will be responsible for handling all phases of the program. The money collected must be used only for developing and carrying out programs of research, education, promotion, and disease, insect and predatory animal control designed to encourage production, marketing and use of pork. Thus, the check-off system is a "self-help" program.

The upcoming referendum is being conducted under the Texas Check-Off Act of 1969 and is under the supervision of the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture. Approval of the referendum requires a two-thirds vote in favor of the check-off or that those voting "yes" produce at least 50 percent of the state's pork for slaughter during a designated period. Producers must report their production at the time of balloting.

The Extension Service has conducted educational meetings in the past few months to inform producers about the provisions of the referendum and the Check-Off Act.

Producers who do not wish to contribute to the program through the check-off may ask for a refund on paid-in assessments. A written request must be made within 60 days from the date of the check-off payment on a form provided by the Pork Producers Board.

The check-off program may be terminated at any time by a simple majority vote of qualified producers.

Onions on the Way . . . Poultry Production Down, Income Up . . . Lamb Prices Increase . . . More Credit? . . . Dry in Some Places.

TEXAS' ONION crop may not be a bumper one, but it's expected to be 18 per cent above last year's crop, reaching 3,675,000 hundred-pounds, compared to 3,120,000 cwt. in 1973. That's about 175 cwt. per acre from 21,000 acres. Onion supplies from Texas fields are expected to peak from now until about mid-May.

The harvest is in full swing in the Rio Grande Valley, and was expected to begin in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area in late April, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

FIGURES ARE IN on the 1973 production of broilers, chickens and eggs. Texans' income from these three categories of the poultry business was $268 million, 54 per cent more than during the 1972 marketing year.

Broiler production in 1973 was 173,330,000, down three per cent from 1972, but prices were better in 1973 and broiler income was up 56 per cent over 1972.

Egg production in Texas during 1973 was 2,496 million eggs, down seven per cent from 1972; but income was up 53 per cent in 1973 over a year earlier, reaching $113 million. The average price for eggs in 1973 was 55.5 cents a dozen compared to 33.7 cents in 1972.

Texans raised 10 million head of chickens (excluding broilers) in 1973, compared to 11 million in 1972. Cash receipts from chickens totaled $5.5 million, 26 per cent more than a year earlier.

PROSPECTS IN THE poultry business show there may be fewer broilers going to the market. Broilers placed in the State during the week ending April 6 totaled 3,872,000 chicks, three per cent fewer than a year ago and two per cent lower than a week earlier. Eggs put in incubators numbered 4,683,000 in the same week, six per cent below the same period in 1973 and two per cent below a week before.

FOR THE FIRST time since January, the press reported lamb prices increased sharply during the week ending April 11. Texas springers were up to $41-44 a hundred, and oldcrop lambs in feedlots were up to $39 a hundred. There were 89,000 sheep and lambs for slaughter on feed in lots with capacity of 2,000 head or more in Texas. That was four per cent fewer than were on feed April 1, 1973. Placement of sheep and lambs during March totaled 31,000 head.

MORE CREDIT may be available in rural areas under provisions of the Rural Development Act, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Farmers Home Administration is authorized to guarantee private lenders that they will be repaid for up to 90 percent of any loss they take on loans for a variety of rural development purposes. That may increase the flow of rural credit from private banks according to the USDA.

SOME RAIN fell recently over sections of the State, but it is still dry in many areas. Cotton planting is about 11 per cent complete over the State, but some farmers from the Blacklands south are reported wanting rain before planting.

Seedbed preparation is underway on the High Plains . . . Sorghum planting is reported about 40 per cent complete in the state, compared to about 30 per cent at the same time last year . . . Peaches are reported developing well in Gillespie County, and trees are beginning to leaf in Gaines County where a good crop is expected.

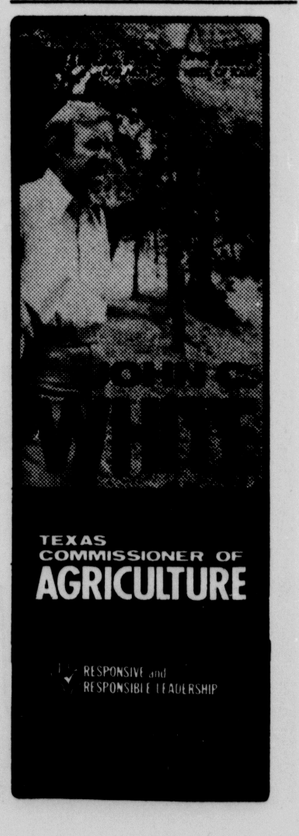
New Deck Rescues Narrow Side Yard

A long, narrow side yard often is seeded to grass and then forgotten, except for mowing. Adding a deck, a fence if needed, and plantings converts the strip to an outdoor living and play area.

Decking of 2x6 and 2x4-inch preservative treated western wood is laid down after removing the grass. Sections of alternating sizes and patterns avoid a boardwalk look.

Planting strips along the fence and house add color to the deck. A removable section can be lifted to form a cover for a child's sandbox out of the traffic pattern.



Texas Democrats To Start National Delegate Selection

Texas Democrats will start the selection of 76 national delegates when they gather at more than 5,000 precinct conventions on May 4, primary election day.

And party leaders are urging everyone -- especially women, youth, minority groups and senior citizens -- to participate.

"When you vote on election day, you automatically elect yourself a delegate to your precinct convention," said John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture and chairman of the Texas Affirmative Action Committee.

TAAC was formed early this year to inspire more involvement from the traditionally under-represented groups in the Democratic Party. New rules were adopted to insure broader representation.

A key rule provides that any group, comprising at least 20 per cent of those in attendance, can by written petition caucus separately and elect their share of the convention delegates.

"This rule is a guarantee that everyone can participate, every voice will be heard," said White.

From the precinct level, delegates journey to 254 county conventions on May 11. The county conventions will select a total of 5,463 delegates to the state convention in Austin September 17.

The state convention, in addition to writing a platform and electing party leaders, will choose delegates to a national conference in Kansas City December 6-8 to write a charter for the Democratic Party.

"You start writing a new charter for the Democratic Party when you attend your precinct convention." White pointed out.

"And you take the first step toward nominating the next Democratic presidential candidate," White added.

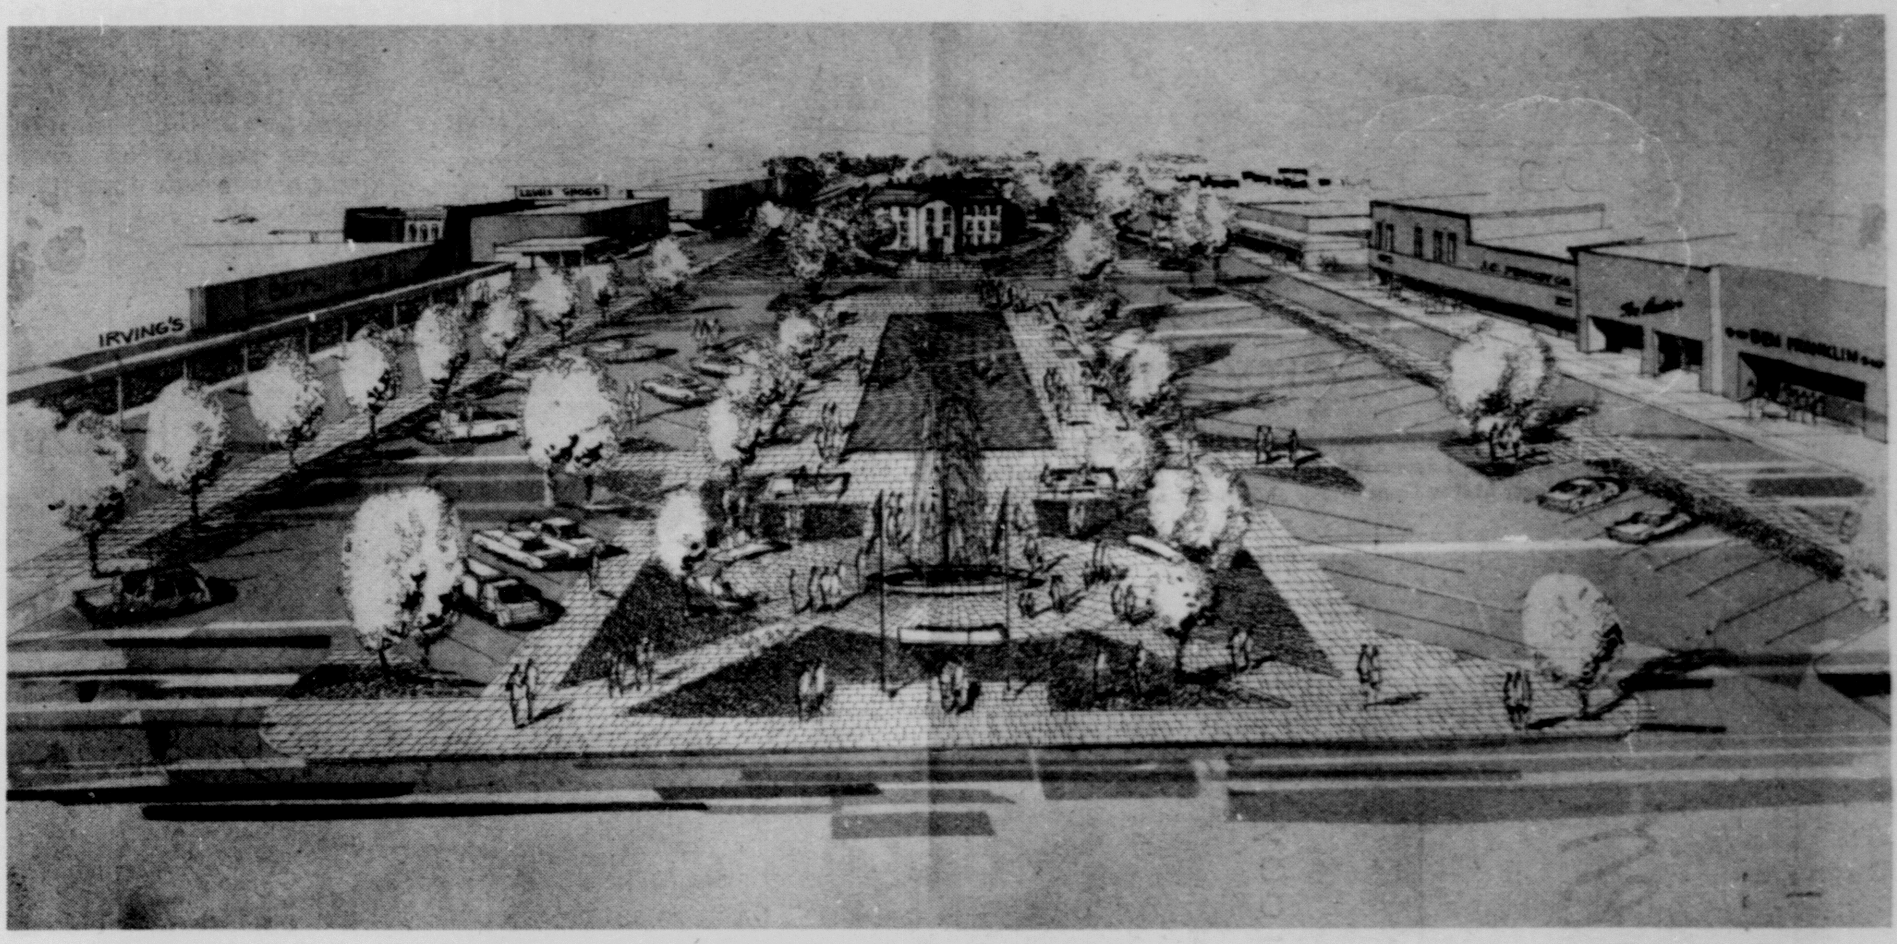
Annual Report...

Cameron Urban Renewal Agency 1973



MALL AREA

THE CAMERON MALL.....

All work on the Mall will be completed in the near future. We have planted twenty-four 3-1/2'' Virginia Live Oaks as well as twenty-seven multi-branched red crepe myrtles in the area. Jasmine plants are being planted in the beds to serve as a beautiful ground cover as well as holding the dirt on the slopes. When this planting is completed, there will be twelve thousand plants.

Two aluminum flag poles (made of Alcoa Aluminum) have been installed and are ready for our Flag Raising Ceremony at the dedication on June 7th at 1:30 p.m.

The Cornerstone from the Auditorium Hotel has been preserved and will have two 4'' sides added to complete the cube and a 4'' top will be installed. The top will be lined to show the original buildings as they were on the central block.

The fountain basin is completed with an earthen tile top installed to match the exposed aggregate walk of the Mall. The fountain is a rain jet fountain and will have a column of water some eight feet in the air, as well as four under water flood lights which will illuminate the column of water for night time viewing.

Eight 22'' lights have been installed on beautiful laminated wood standards. All light wires as well as telephone cables have been installed underground in the Mall eliminating poles. Nine aluminum benches have arrived and will be installed on the Mall where people might sit, relax, and enjoy the fountain and beauty of the Mall.

Sidewalks And Curbs

All curbs and walks have been completed in the Project Area making a total of 33,653 square feet at a cost of 0.664 per square foot.

There has been 7,079 running feet of curb and gutter installed at a cost of $1.939 per foot.

The costs have been higher than anticipated due to the increased cost of cement, steel, and labor; but they are still within line of the costs in our neighboring areas.

Paving

At the end of our Project, some eighteen blocks or 36,448 square yards of paving will be completed. The cost for eight inch base and 1-1/2 compacted asphalt averaged $2.427 per square yard.

Storm Drainage

Existing storm grates were replaced with curb inlets to give better and faster drainage. Twenty curb inlets were installed with drop boxes. One inlet at Houston and Main was nine feet. The remaining nineteen boxes and inlets were four feet. The total of cost of inlets, boxes and improvements was $9,860.52.

Parking Lots

Two parking lots have been completed including curbs and walks on both sides. Steps on the north and south sides have been installed in the center of the parking lot from the street sides. This will make shopping or a visit to the Mall Area much easier.

Financing Program

Bids were opened August 7, 1973, for $280,000.00 in project notes to finance the program for the six-month period ending March 8, 1974. The Morgan Guarantee Trust Company was the successful bidder at 6.20%, with a premium of $13.00.

The history of buildings and peopl in the old town Cameron has been written and published by Mrs. Vance Werner of Cameron. The book was so well received that it was sold out in less than two weeks. The second printing will be out in about three weeks and will be available at businesses in Cameron. The book is very interesting and covers many interesting happenings in Cameron's past. We, of the Urban Renewal Commission, are most appreciative of the many hours of research and work done by Mrs. Werner to compile this book, which will be prized through the years to come.

The Key To Success

We feel the success of our program has been due to the wonderful cooperation we have received from all Government personnel that have worked with our program, as well as the cooperation we have received from our City Council and Department heads, the dedication of the Urban Renewal Commission members, and the wonderful cooperation by businesses and our entire citizenship. We are very appreciative of the wonderful help we have received from the Cameron Herald and the KMIL Radio Station. They have been most cooperative in helping to keep our program before the citizens and keep them informed as progress was made. This has been most important in the success of our program.

We have proven that Cameron can do anything to which it sets its heart, mind, and hand. We feel this has been a rebirth for our city, and, as we celebrate our 128th birthday, we are well and looking to the future with a great deal of anticipation.

Utilities

All electric pole and line relocations have been completed. We have been able to relocate many poles and completely remove some 25 poles from our streets, greatly increasing the beauty of our city.

Telephone lines on Main Street have been installed underground, as well as three lateral lines crossing Main, and making underground laterals up Houston to tie in to existing lines. All wires have been removed on one block opposite the mall on Houston Street and on 1st Street opposite the mall. We appreciate the cooperation we have received from Mr. Henry Seibman, Manager of Texas Power & Light and Mr. Dennis Richter, District Manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Acquisition & Disposition

Twenty-five parcels of land were acquired at a cost of $175,767.00. All land has been sold, with the exception of three parcels and the mall area, which will be dedicated to the City and the citizens of Cameron at the June 7 dedication.

We have three choice properties for sale, and they are in the mall area where the action is. We invite you to invest in these properties and grow with Cameron.

Summary Of Relocation And Rehabilitations

Thirty-three buildings have been rehabilitated and brought up to standard, 4 are, at present, in the process of completing their rehabs. Some are waiting on workmen.

Thirty-six businesses have been handled in our relocation program.

Seven loans have been processed for rehabs in excess of $92,000.00.

Financing

On February 4, 1974, bids were opened to cover financing of the extension on our program from March 8 until June 21, close-out date. The low bidder was The Citizens National Bank of Cameron at a rate of 4.11% with a $3.00 premium.

Business is up in our city. With many of our buildings undergoing repairs and our streets under construction, our sales tax for the fourth quarter of 1973 was the largest, ever, as Cameron received $19,739.50 from the one-percent sales tax. Sales will continue to grow, as merchants update their stores and merchandise to supply the needs of our trade area better.

Saving In Our Program

We have been able to make savings in our program, which we are hopeful will be available to our city in future programs or projects, as there are so many needs in our city. We feel Cameron will be included in any program available in the future, if Cameron will accept the challenge.

Demolition

All demolition has been completed in the project area. The buildings were removed by contractor and all debris hauled away.

The demolition of sidewalks, curbs and streets was performed by the City for the Agency, under force contract, and paid for by the Urban Renewal Agency. A total of $47,202.18 has been paid the City for this work.

Town Hall Meeting

On July 19, 1973, we held a town hall meeting at the Community Center, sponsored by the Planning Commission, to plan for Cameron's future and try to involve all our citizens in planning. We believe, when people are informed and have a part in the action, the success of a program is assured. The Planning Commission of the City is a very active group and dedicated to Cameron's future.

Better Fire Protection...

All water lines have been completed affording better pressure to our businesses and greatly improving fire protection for the City. This will favorably affect our key rate for the City which will benefit all Citizens.

There was 1,053 linear feet of ten inch main installed from the Pump Station on Lamar and Second Street to First Street and on First Street to tie in at Crockett Street. This replaced a four inch main. Ten and eight inch mains were installed from First Street to tie into eight main on Second Street. This replaced one existing four inch main. Six inch main was installed on Central replacing a four inch main from First Street to Second Street.

Three new six inch fire plugs were installed on new lines replacing out-dated four inch plugs. The total cost of water lines was $12,876.58.

Storm Sewer

A new thirty-inch drain was installed on First Street from Houston to Travis; and two lateral lines twenty-four inches each were installed - one across 1st Street at Travis Street and one across First Street at Central. We feel this should be a great help in the drainage. This work was done at a cost of $6,394.42.

Health Conference Set For Stockmen

Beating the cost of the production "crunch" by improved management and health care is the goal of the 6th Annual Southwestern Animal Health Conference for Livestock men. Huff of Austin , the executive director of the meeting.

A general session will be held Saturday afternoon where general topics of interest to all producers will be discussed. On Sunday the sectional meetings will continue with emphasis on specific health problems of cattle, horses, swine and dairy animals.

Livestock producers may register upon arrival at the Green Oaks Inn located on the West Freeway, west of Fort Worth. Registration is $25.00.

The Animal Health Conference is sponsored by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the College of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University. All funds received are used to pay for travel expenses of the speakers and the cost of the meeting.

Study Due On Recycling Plastic

A major study on the recycling of plastic from scrapped cars to conserve minerals, save energy, and reduce pollution will get under way soon, according to the American Automobile Association.

Under separate agreements with the U. S. Bureau of Mines, the Ford Motor Company and General Motors Corporation will furnish scrapped cars and components for the Bureau's waste recovery experiments. The auto companies will also experiment with methods through which plastics can be reused in place of new materials.

Extending the life of existing plastics, which are petrochemical materials derived from petroleum, can make it possible to reuse the, thus making more petroleum available for fuel needs.

According to the AAA, the cooperative programs would work in this manner; The Bureau of Mines will give the auto companies details about its work on separating non-magnetic materials from auto scrap and converting them to reusable forms, and ship samples of reclaimed plastic to companies' plants.

In turn, the car companies will give the Bureau data on the kinds and amounts of plastics used in their cars and how much the materials cost.

A wide variety of plastics is used in cars, especially the new models , AAA said.

In 1960, about 33 pounds of plastic went into each U. S. car, but by 1972, the amount was more than 100 pounds. By 1975, the average car may contain as much as 200 pounds of plastic, an amount that would annually total more than two billion pounds nationwide.

Some of the automotive components in which plastic is used are dash padding, moldings, upholstery, reflectors, grilles and electrical insulation on calbes and wires.

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding—and especially, don't forget the Church!

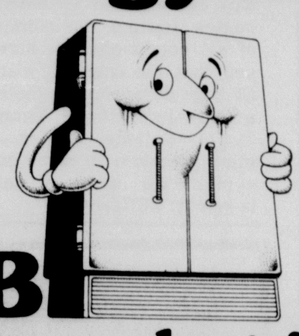
Reducing plan for energy users



Plan B

How to save electricity with refrigerator-freezers

1. Defrost regularly. More than ¼" of frost will act as insulation and causes your refrigerator/freezer to work harder to maintain a proper temperature. Replace worn door gaskets to prevent cold air loss.
2. Keep refrigerator temperature setting between 35° and 40° — freezer setting at 0°. (Use thermometer to check.)
3. Adjust temperature up 2° or 3° if you'll be away several days.
4. Don't leave door open unnecessarily. Close quickly.
5. Avoid overcrowding. It restricts cold air flow around food and overworks unit.
6. Cover all liquids placed in frost-free units. (Moisture causes frost and needless defrosting.)
7. Keep condenser coils on back and bottom of your refrigerator/freezer free of dust for more efficient operation.
8. Cook double recipes and freeze half for future use.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call or see the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.

NUMBER ONE TALBERT- John V. (Slim) Talbert has a new job. But, he has something special going with the Management. You see, Slim just retired after 12 years with Trunkline Gas Oh, you don't know John V. (Slim) Talbert?

Well, you should.

He's the remarkable 6-3, 2oo-pounder who fathered 6-5 , 270-pound Diron Talbert, one of Pro Football's better Defensive Tackles with the Washington Redskins . . . And, the same guy who's Papa to 6-5, 260-pound Don Talbert who just retired from the Dallas Cowboys and 6-5, 215- pound Charlie Talbert, the former All-SWC University of Texas End.

You recognize Don and Kiron, also, as UT All-America Tackles.

The Tall, Talented and Tough Talberts came out of Texas City to cut a swath across Southwest football rivalled only by the Bellville Koys.

John Vester Talbert, whom friends only recognize as Slim, has joined his three famous sons who are wheeling and dealing in the apartment, construction and Hotel business out of Houston.

"Daddy's tough," laughs Charlie, but Mama's the Real Boss.

QUICKIES:

One UT Football Assistant calls Spring Halfback Surprise Jimmy Walker, the Newton Nugget, "A fast Tommy Ford." Another Royal aide dubs Walker, "A slow Jim Bertelsen." Slow, or fast, those are two All-Americans the Longhorn Soph-to-be is being compared to . . . A victim of the new NCAA - ordered 30 Scholarship limit, Houston Memorial's Judd Wyatt will skip college football and attend Texas A&M. Son of Sonny Wyatt, the star running back of Rice's 1949 SWC Champion Owls, Judd was called, "The best running back I've ever coached," by Memorial's Mike Williamson. But, a slender 150-pound running back simply must be passed over, with the short scholarship rule, unless he's a 9.3 sprinter.

Looking Back: A rare combination was the University of Texas' 1932 Backfield, with Big Ernie Koy, Harrison Stafford and Bohn Hilliard taking three of the four spots. Three of the SWC s immortal figures in one backfield! Where are they now? Koy, whose sons Little Ernie and Ted followed him in UT stardom, is a Bellville Rancher-Merchant. Ditto for Stafford at Edna while Hilliard is a Grand Paririe Savings and Loan Prexy.

A rare talent, Glen Shipman, is going to play somewhere for Emory Bellard's Texas Aggies. The 6-3 200-pound Soph-to-be Quarterback out of Odessa is so good he may be the one guy who turns the Aggie program around . . . Brownie Wheless, the former All-SWC Rice Owl tackles is now associated with a prestigious Houston Accounting firm . . There was a time when Texas Schoolboy Football Playoff drama was literally laced with exploits of the Lufkin Panthers. Not so, lately, So, people sort of forget they're still turning out football stars in that East Texas Metropolis. Like Ecomet Burley. Tech's Super 230-pound All-SWC Defensive Tackle who'll be shooting at All-America as a Junior this fall. And, D. C. Nobles just completed that fabulous Quarterbacking year at Houston U. Couple years ago, Harold Lyons was an All-SWC offensive guard for Jim Carlen at Tech. Yes, Lufkin is alive and well.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vic Sanford

Spotting Downed Birds

When you down a bird in brush or high grass and go to the place where you think it fell, and it isn't there, drop a white handkerchief at the spot.

Then hunt from there in circles until you locate your kill.

Otherwise you are apt to wander away from the original area.

Scope Has Many Advantages

Lots of hunters prefer open-sight shooting. But many good bucks are missed because the hunter didn't have a scope sight on his gun when needed.

This is especially true around dusk, when visibility is poor. It is then that a scope can tell you if the deer is a buck and just where to place a killing shot.

Plastic Bags Protect Shells

Duck hunters often are troubled by shells becoming wet and swollen. Next trip out carry your shells in plastic bags to avoid this trouble.

A zip-top or squeeze-lok bag is excellent.

Use Light Loads

Many hunters shoot better with light loads when hunting upland game.

Because of the lesser recoil they flinch less and therefore make more kills. And the cost of light load ammunition is lower.

Save your long-brass shells for geese, duck and other long-range targets.

Don't Overfeed Hunting Dog

A lean dog makes a good hunter!

Don't feed your dog all his appetite calls for, or he will get sluggish and hunt poorly. It's better for his ribs to show a little—it's a sign he's in top shape.

To De-burr Dogs

Next time your setter or spaniel comes in from the field with its coat full of cockleburrs, remove them with a two-tined kitchen fork.

The burrs can be removed in jig time without so much as a yelp from the pooch.

Car Trunks and Bird Dogs

You bird hunters who carry your dogs in the car trunk should keep the car trunk closed, rather than partly open for ventilation.

Open tops only suck in gas fumes. Close the top and "air" the dogs at regular intervals.

Visit HERALD STATIONERY for your office supply needs; If we do not have what you need, we will order it for you!

State Sets Auction

More than 157 "one-owner" automobiles and 8 pieces of heavy duty highway equipment will be offered to the highest bidder at the State of Texas 18th Surplus Property Auction at the Austin City Coliseum on April 27. Homer A. Foerster, executive director, Texas State Board of Control, reported.

Bidders will have an opportunity to see the highway equipment on a big projection screen in the Coliseum, since it is not practical to move the heavy equipment to the Austin location, Foerster explained. Several months ago a colored slide projection of similar highway equipment was a unique feature of the Auction, an innovation of Nelson International of Dallas, Auctioneers.

The highway equipment is located in Paris, Lubbock, San Angelo, Abilene, Taylor, Houston, Bryan and Beaumont, and it may be inspected prior to the Auction date.

Persons interested in obtaining a list of all items to be offered should send their request to the Board of Control, P. O. Box 13047, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Other surplus property highlights include a postage ing machine from the Department of Agriculture; calculators, chairs, adding machines and typewriters

College Changes Policy

Temple Junior College is changing its admissions policy to allow persons 18 or older to conditionally enter the college without a high school diploma or equivalent certificate. Formerly, an individual had to be 21 years or older or a veteran to be conditionally admitted to TJC.

The change in the admissions policy was approved by the college's board of regents at its April meeting. The change is effective immediately.

TJC President Marvin R. Felder explained that a conditionally admitted student will be allowed to several routes toward the removal of all conditions. He stressed that the change "will in no way compromise the academic integrity of Temple Junior College. Rather , it simply makes it more convenient for some students to enroll initially."

Lightning Tips

In Texas, spring means thunderstorms and thunderstorms mean lightning. The Texas Safety Association, noting that lightning is the thunderstorm's worst killer, says the first rule of lightning safety is to stay indoors.
Also, advise safety experts, stay away from electrical appliances while the storm is overhead. Avoid open doors or windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes and sinks, and don't use the telephone.
If lightning catches you out of doors, stay away from metal objects. Keep clear of fences, telephone or power lines, pipelines or structural steel fabrication. It is also unsafe to handle flammable material in open containers during lightning storms.
Seek shelter in buildings when possible, and remember that automobiles offer excellent lightning protection. Otherwise the best course is to lie low in a cave, ditch or canyon. If such protection is not available, simply crouch in the open.
Stay away from trees, poles and hills. The worst place to be is under a tree on a hill.
Get out of the water and off small boats.

JUDGING A HOUSE BY ITS COVER

Spring is the ideal time for a bi-annual inspection of the exterior of your home. If you correct small problems as soon as they appear, you may be spared the worry and expense of major repair work.
For instance, small cracks in brickwork, stone, wood or metal that let moisture and air seep in can be sealed with a silicone rubber caulking compound.
A silicone rubber caulk or sealer is impervious to moisture in any form--humidity, water, steam, ice--and the constantly changing temperatures of summer and winter will not affect its permanently flexible seal. And, unlike most other caulking compounds, silicone caulks and sealers won't become brittle with age.
There is absolutely no reason why sealing repairs have to be "unsightly." Dow Corning manufactures black, clear and aluminum silicone sealers, in addition to silicone rubber bathtub caulk in pink, yellow, blue, green, beige, and white. Either bathtub caulks or silicone sealers are ideal for a wide variety of interior or exterior repair jobs and one of the nine colors available will complement almost any work surface.
Silicone caulks and sealers are ideal for repairing and waterproofing rain gutters and downspouts. They can also be used to seal around window air conditioners and exhaust fans to keep hot, damp air outside.
The joints between exterior siding and window and door frames are also important to check for moisture. All joints should be sealed tightly and again, a silicone caulk or sealer is the perfect material for a long lasting job. You can also tackle repairs to your fiber glass patio canopy, since silicone rubber is one of the few sealants that has excellent adhesion to fiber glass.
You can put silicone sealers and caulks to work plugging holes where wires and pipes enter the house, and for weatherproofing outdoor lighting fixtures. Even emergency repairs on a torn window screen just need a piece of masking tape on one side of the rip and clear silicone rubber sealer on the other. Remove the tape when the sealer cures and your screens are "bugproof" again.

HOW TO GET THE MOST FOR YOUR EGG MONEY

Eggs are good at any meal. Like meat, they are high in protein. They are usually a bargain. A dozen large eggs weigh 1½ pounds. So, when large eggs are 60 cents a dozen, that is the same as 40 cents a pound.

Think about two things when you buy eggs—the size and the quality. USDA (U.S. Department of Agriculture) grades tell the quality; USDA size classes tell the size, which does not affect the quality.

The USDA grade shield on a carton of eggs, or on a tape sealing the carton, means that the eggs were graded by a Federal-State egg grader and packed in a clean plant. There are two grades commonly available in the supermarkets:

USDA Grade AA (or Fresh Fancy)—These eggs are the best and the most expensive. The white is thick and doesn't spread out much; the yolk is high and firm.

USDA Grade A—Almost as high in quality as AA, this grade is sold in most stores. Grade AA and A eggs are specially good for frying and poaching. They are good for all purposes.

LOOK FOR THE SIZE

USDA egg sizes are based on weight per dozen. These are the sizes you might see:

Extra Large—a dozen must weigh at least 27 ounces.

Large—a dozen must weigh at least 24 ounces.

Medium—a dozen must weigh at least 21 ounces.

Small—a dozen must weigh at least 18 ounces.

A price difference of 7-8 cents per dozen is a handy rule of thumb in selecting the best buy. For example, if Large eggs are less than 7 cents more than Medium eggs, the Large ones are the best buy.
